An FM/CoC organization has sold standing trees to a CoC organization before the certification of the FM/CoC organization is suspended or expired. Is the CoC certificate holder allowed to harvest the trees and consider the logs as FSC-certified? No, once the FM/CoC certification is suspended or expired the forest stand loses the FSC status, even if it has been sold already. The harvesting of standing timber is only allowed if covered by a valid FM certification. Thus, the CoC certified organization, which has purchased the standing trees can not anymore claim the logs to be FSC certified.

How are CBs required to verify that a certificate holder (CH) demonstrates its commitment to comply with the values of FSC as defined in the “Policy for the Association of Organizations with FSC” (FSC-POL-01-004)? CBs have to verify (audit) the CH’s commitment to comply with the values of FSC as defined in the Policy for Association according to FSC-STD-40-004 V3-0/V3-1 Clause 1.3/1.3. This needs to be done by evaluating the existence of a self-declaration signed by the CH (FSC-PRO-20-001 V1-1 Section 3). See also INT-PRO-20-001_02 for situations of evidenced infringements of the Policy for Association.

Can certification bodies conduct desk-audits to approve the transition of certificate holders from V3-0 to V3-1 of FSC-STD-40-004? Yes, except when there are elements of the standard that need to be verified on-site for the confirmation of certificate holder’s conformity with the requirements. Desk audits for standards transition do not replace the need for annual surveillance audits, except when the requirements of Clause 2.6 e)/2.6 f) and 3.2 of FSC-STD-20-011 V4-1/4-2 are met.

Complaints, disputes, or allegations of nonconformity received from stakeholders have to be reviewed by the certification body in all cases according to FSC-STD-20-011 V4-1/4-2 Clause 2.6 d/2.6 e). Further evaluation is only required if the review indicates that there is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) evidence of nonconformities of the CH with any FSC certification requirements applicable to the scope of certification; or b) a risk for nonconformities with applicable FSC certification requirements due to other activities of the organization (including non-certified entities or operations) that may affect the integrity of the chain of custody system, such as illegal timber trade, document forgery or product counterfeiting. The CB shall record the complaint, dispute or allegation and any identified evidence for infringements of the Policy for Association in the audit or complaint investigation report and alert FSC International about a potential non-compliance with the FSC Policy for Association for further evaluation. Complaints received by the CH have to be reviewed in all cases according to Clause 1.2.3 for conformity with FSC-STD-20-001 V4-0. If they relate to nonconformity with applicable certification requirements in certified entities or operations, appropriate action must be taken by the CH and documented. Otherwise, similar considerations apply as provided under point 1) above.

Requirement (s)	FSC-STD-40-003 V2-1 Clause 5.3.5
Publication date	20 March 2020, updated 28 October 2021 Effective from the date of publication until 30 June 2022, or until withdrawn. This interpretation will be updated as necessary.

Clause 5.3.5 offers the option that Central Offices may conduct internal audits of Participating Sites as desk audits (remote audits) under certain circumstances. Would the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, that places travel restrictions on many areas of the world, also be considered a circumstance in which desk audits (remote audits) would be justifiable?

1. Yes, the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic does justify applying the option of desk audits (remote audits) as per Clause 5.3.5 for all types of participating sites, provided that:
 - a. the Participating Site is in an area with a health risk (demonstrated through verifiable public sources, e.g. official travel warnings or restrictions) due to coronavirus, or
 - b. Central Office auditors are prevented from conducting an on-site audit due to travel restrictions imposed by organizational (certificate holder/Central Office) health and safety policies or public authorities.
2. In addition to the option of conducting the internal audit as desk audits (remote audits), the Central Office may also consider postponing the internal audit, but not beyond the end of 2020.
3. For new applicant sites, the initial internal audit may be replaced by desk (remote) audits in cases:
 - a. the new applicant sites are already meeting the existing requirements of Clause 5.3.5, or
 - b. the Central Office and the applicant sites meet the requirements specified in FSC-DER-2020-005 then the initial internal audit may be replaced by desk (remote) audits.
4. The Central Office shall retain documented evidence for each case where this interpretation has been applied.
5. As soon as travel restrictions have been lifted, internal audits shall be conducted as per regular audit procedures.

When government agencies (or government bodies) run a public wood auction system, can timber that is owned and sold by the government, and originating from a government licensed concession which is FSC certified, be considered FSC certified although the agency itself does not hold an FM/COC or COC certificate?

Yes, this timber can be sold as FSC certified if it can be demonstrated that the certificate holder :

- a. source timber originating from an FM/COC certified Management Unit (MU) and the timber was harvested in full conformance with applicable FSC requirements;
- b. implement a system that allows the timber to be traced back to the MU in which it was harvested, together with information on volume and cutting/harvest date.
- c. establish a system between the agency and the certificate holder to regulate and control the use of the certificate holder's certification code and FSC Claims;
- d. maintain control over the timber until the sale is made (i.e. the material is shipped directly to the auction winner from the certificate holder);
- e. ensure that non-certified organizations (like the government agency) is not using the certification code of certified organizations in their own documents. In these exceptional cases, it is sufficient that only the sales or delivery document issued by the certified organization contains all information as specified in FSC-STD-40-004 (V3-0 and V3-1) Clause 5.1 and is used to identify inputs and outputs sold with FSC claims. The document issued by the non-certified organization shall contain sufficient information to link the sale and related delivery documentation to each other.
- f. grant access to the certification body of an FM/COC certificate holder to all relevant documentation, records and sites of the agency and the successful bidder to verify the correct implementation of all applicable requirements, including those listed in this interpretation.

NOTE 1: CoC certification is not required for organizations providing services to certified organizations without taking legal ownership of the certified products, including:

- a. agents and auction houses arranging the trade of certified products between buyer and seller;
- b. providers of logistics services, transporting and/or temporarily storing or warehousing certified products without changing their composition or physical integrity;
- c. contractors operating under an outsourcing agreement in accordance with Section 12 of the FSC-STD-40-004 V3-0 standard.

NOTE 2: Any other situation with a non-certified auction entity shall be submitted to FSC for a case-by-case analysis.

Which standards can organizations apply when certifying a project?

Organizations should apply FSC-STD-40-006 for the certification of single and multiple projects. However, organizations can opt to apply FSC-STD-40-004 in case it is more adequate for their needs.

Depending on which standards are being applied, the charging mechanism for the Annual Administration Fee (AAF) will differ. In the case of FSC-STD-40-004, the Forest Products Turnover will be used to calculate the AAF, and in the case of FSC-STD-40-006, the overall costs of each project will be used.

For further details on the charging mechanism, please refer to the applicable version of the AAF Policy (FSC-POL-20-005).

Yes. As a default, a 'sample' is defined as all transactions in a specified period of time. FSC may pre-determine the type of sample to be taken in a given investigation, which may include instructions on sample size (all or parts of transactions), sampling method (e.g., random, systematic), and if the transactions should be provided in a list of individual transactions or aggregated across the specified period.

What supplier documentation should organizations be checking?

In general, it is sufficient for organizations to only check their supplier's invoice to confirm all the information required under Clause 2.3 is present.

In the event the invoice is not available, the organization should check delivery documentation to confirm all the information required under Clause 2.3 is present.

If the required information is spread across both the supplier's sales and delivery documentation, then the organization will need to check both to confirm all the required information is present.

In extraordinary cases where the FSC claim and/or certificate code was not able to be provided through the sales or delivery documentation, the organization shall check relevant supplementary documentation to determine the quantity of claim-contributing inputs.

Can an FSC-certified organization make claims on sales documents regarding the FSC certified packaging used for its products (FSC-certified or not)?

An FSC-certified organization may establish an FSC product group for FSC certified packaging purchased from a certificate holder, for the purpose of controlling FSC output claims and labelling provided that:

- 1) All components of the FSC certified packaging are FSC-certified (e.g., folding box and a wrapping paper) and;
- 2) The FSC-certified organization ensures that sales documents include information on the FSC product group "Packaging" and the relevant FSC claim. Some examples of information on sales documents:
 - Packaging: FSC Mix 70%;
 - "Product name": FSC Mix Credit / Packaging: FSC Mix 70%;
 - "Product name" and packaging: FSC Mix Credit

The FSC-certified organization may omit the percentage or credit information in sales documentation (e.g. using "FSC Mix" claim only instead of "FSC Mix 70%" or "FSC Mix Credit"). In this case, however, the percentage or credit information cannot be passed along the supply chain by certificate holders.

NOTE: The organization may label or promote the FSC-certified packaging following the requirements specified in FSC-STD-50-001.

Yes. Since FSC Controlled Wood is an eligible input in project certification, CoC certificate holders can sell products with FSC Controlled Wood claims on sales documents to FSC project applicants.

The Chain of Custody standard only allows the sale of raw or semi-finished products as FSC Controlled Wood. However, it is not clear whether decking or other products (windows, doors, frames, etc.) that are ready for installation can be considered as semi-finished products and can be sold with the FSC Controlled Wood claim. Several certificate holders currently list 'decking' in their product group list on the FSC database with a FSC Controlled Wood claim which would show that they can be considered as semi-finished products.

Can products that do not undergo any further transformation except for installation purposes (e.g., decking, windows, doors etc.) be considered semi-finished products? Can they be sold with an “FSC Controlled Wood” claim?

This depends on the intended end use of the product by the end-user. According to FSC-STD-40-004 products like decking, windows, and doors that will not undergo any further processing except for installation purposes are considered as a finished product and cannot be sold with an ‘FSC Controlled Wood’ claim.

However, when used in FSC certified projects under FSC-STD-40-006, where they add to the overall completion of the project, they can be considered as semi-finished products and be sold with an “FSC Controlled Wood” claim.

Is it acceptable that organizations supplying the construction sector make partial FSC claims on supplementary documents for custom manufactured FSC products such as construction components (e.g. dam walls) and assembled products (e.g. window frames) if these products also contain components of other forest certification schemes?

Yes, organizations supplying construction components or components of assembled products to the construction sector which contain FSC certified material may make FSC claims on supplementary documents only.

These components are, however, not eligible to carry the FSC label and cannot be promoted as FSC-certified. FSC claims shall identify which specific components are certified and shall not be used in a way that implies equivalence to other forest certification schemes (e.g. Window frame FSC 100% & XX% ABCD). All elements of the FSC claims shall meet the requirements as specified in FSC-STD-40-004.

Examples of FSC-certified components with FSC claims:

- Door core-oriented strand board, FSC Mix Credit, XX-COC-000000
- Door Frame MDF, FSC Mix 70%, XX-COC-000000
- Door Wing solid oak FSC 100%, XX-COC-000000

NOTE 1: A ‘Partial claim’ is an FSC claim which refers to only stated FSC-certified components or components of an assembled product that are FSC-certified and have a functional purpose. They do not refer to components covered under other forestry certification schemes.

NOTE 2: The objective of the interpretation is to enhance the transparency of sales of FSC-certified components and components of assembled products if they are also certified by other forest certification schemes.

For example, an organization uses the percentage system, but when the end of the claim period comes, they have not obtained enough input volume to reach the labelling threshold of 70%. Then they switch to the credit system and sell a volume of FSC Mixed Credit material equal to the Mixed XX% calculation.

No, the organization cannot have two systems of control for the same product group and switch from one to another ad libitum. In a situation where the organization cannot reach the minimum threshold for labelling, the products can still be claimed as FSC certified on invoices informing the applicable FSC percentage (e.g., FSC Mixed 45%), but the FSC label shall not be applied.

However, an organization may decide to permanently switch from one control system to another by defining a new product group. In this case the following shall apply regarding remaining eligible material:

1. from the percentage to the credit system: the organization may enter in its credit account an input equivalent to the volume of FSC Mixed x% output resulting from the last claim period or job order that was not sold under the percentage system.
2. from credit to percentage system: the remaining credits from the credit account cannot be used as input for the percentage system.

There are references in the CoC standard that make a distinction between virgin and reclaimed materials (see Note under Clause 5.9, Table D, definitions of FSC Mix and FSC Recycled), indicating that they are not equivalent materials. They can be combined in the same credit account in the case of products that are made with both materials (mixed fibres). However, for 100% recycled products, the FSC credit shall only be taken from the reclaimed input materials. Can organizations specify it their product groups species and products that they are not able to source, produce and/or sell? No, organizations shall only include in their product groups the products and species that they sold with FSC claims since the last assessment by the certification body and the ones that are feasible to be supplied with FSC claims. Since Certification Bodies are required to approve product groups of their clients, they also have a role in analyzing and making a judgement on whether the information provided by the organization makes sense with regards to commercial and legal availability and can be approved as product group.

However, when establishing its product groups, organizations shall refer to the species that they actually sourced or will be able to source from their suppliers.

An FSC certified organization (sawmill) processes logs to produce two output product groups: lumber and residuals (woodchips and sawdust). Since both output product groups originated from the same raw input material (logs), can the sawmill opt to allocate all the output credits into the credit account of one of these two output product groups? Yes, this is possible provided that the relevant product groups are established (i.e., lumber, woodchips and sawdust) and the output product group that receives all the credits can be produced from the other output product group that donates these credits (i.e., lumber processed into woodchips/sawdust). For example, at a sawmill, woodchips and sawdust could be produced from lumber, while the reverse is not possible. In such a situation, the organization may choose to allocate all output credits of the input material (logs) to the credit account of the product group containing the residuals. The maximum amount of output credit that can be allocated to the credit account of the product group containing the residuals shall be determined by applying the applicable conversion factor reflecting the quantity of residuals that would be available if an entire log were converted into residuals.

1. What does the term “used” mean in the context of 10% of the input credits used by its own site? 2. Can a Central office (CO) maintain a centralized credit account, when the CO does all the purchasing and selling? Operational sites are the ones physically receiving, transforming and shipping the material. 1. Using input credits from a centralized credit account by a participating site means to deduct them from the centralized credit account for the purpose of selling material produced at that site with relevant credit claims. In order to be eligible to “use” a certain amount of input credits, a participating site shall have contributed over a 12-month period at least 10% of those credits through claim-contributing input materials that have been physically received in its own facilities. The remaining 90% of the used input credits can come from transferred (virtual) input credits.

2, In the situation where the Central Office (CO) maintains a centralized credit account, the contribution of input credits cannot be demonstrated through relevant purchase documents. In this case, relevant delivery documents need to be checked for this purpose.

The company does not relinquish ownership and the product is not altered in any way from the time it leaves the company facility to the warehouse and then into the ship or train. Is the process of warehousing considered outsourcing? Storage sites should be exempt from CoC evaluations where they constitute 'stopping places' or intersections only as part of transport agreements between two Chain of Custody operations. In other words, where certain storage facilities are used (or rented) by transport service providers to fulfill a contractual agreement between two CoC certified operations, such sites should not be considered part of an outsourcing agreement. Where, however, a CoC operation contracts a transport service provider or the warehouse owner to store goods in the absence of an agreed delivery to a customer (and would then only place a delivery order at a later point in time, once a sales contract has been signed), such a scenario should be considered an extension of the storage site of the CoC operation and justify to look at it as an outsourcing arrangement.

Requirement (s)	FSC-STD-40-004 V3-0, Annex C, definition of ‘Finished product’ FSC-STD-40-004 V3-1, Annex E, definition of ‘Finished product’
Publication date	02 December 2020; updated 13 September 2022
Can wooden chips and pellets be considered as ‘finished products’? FSC-STD-40-004 V3-0/V3-1 defines ‘Finished product’ as “A product that will not undergo further transformation in terms of processing, labelling, or packaging prior to its intended end use or sale to the end-user. Installation of finished products, the filling of packaging, and cutting to size are not considered product transformation, unless these activities involve repackaging, changing of the FSC product composition, or relabeling. NOTE: Some products may or may not be classified as a finished product depending on the intended use by the customers. For example, lumber or paper does not classify as a finished product if sold to a manufacturer that will further transform these materials into other products.”

The note following the definition further clarifies that for some products the classification for a finished product would depend on the intended use by the customer and would need to be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

Wood chips and pellets may be considered as a finished or semi-finished product, depending on the intended use by the customer. If there is any repackaging involved or change in the product composition (e.g., wood pellets being powdered) or relabelling before being sold further down the supply chain, then it could be considered as a semi-finished product. However, if the customer is purchasing the wood pellets for direct use (e.g., burning them for energy generation), and it does not undergo further transformation, it would be considered as a 'finished product' at the point of sale.

Can a CoC certificate holder (CoC-CH) include logging and harvesting activities (e.g., buying standing trees) under the scope of their chain of custody certification? Can they sell FSC-certified products?
Yes, a CoC certificate holder can include logging and harvesting activities under the scope of its chain of custody certification and sell FSC-certified forest products with FSC claims or use it as input for CoC-certified production or processes, provided that the certificate holder has the legal ownership of the timber at the time of harvest. There are two main scenarios for a CoC-CH with logging and harvesting activities in the certification scope:

- 1) A logger is the CoC-CH and is buying and subsequently harvesting standing trees, regulated by a contract between the logger and the FM-certified Organization. The logger is taking legal ownership of FSC-certified material and therefore needs to be certified.
- 2) A timber trader or processor is the CoC-CH and is outsourcing the harvesting activities to a logger through an outsourcing agreement under the scope of certification. In this case, the logger does not take legal ownership of FSC-certified material and therefore does not need to be certified.

In both scenarios, the certification body of the CoC-CH shall visit log landings or timber storages if there is a risk that material from uncertified or uncontrolled sources could enter or where FSC certified or controlled material could leave the system (i.e., critical control points).

The FM-certified Organization is responsible for ensuring conformance of all activities within the certified MU with the applicable forest stewardship standard. This also refers to activities conducted by other persons or entities. It is the responsibility of the certification body of the FM-certified Organization to assure this conformance.

Can an industry use old coconut palm trees from plantations as recycled wood? Coconut fibre is not considered as wood since it is a palm-derived material, despite of its similar commercial and functional properties compared to material from trees. This conclusion is based on the botanical definition that wood is an organic material produced by Dicots species and palms pertain to Monocots group of plants. FSC considers this material as a non-timber forest product where it originates from forests and as non-forest based material where it originates otherwise. The certification of coconut fibre would be possible in case that the material is produced in a forest based system (native forest or plantations). Therefore, palms produced from other land use systems are not subject to FSC certification and their material can be included in FSC certified products as non-forest based material. Also, this material is not eligible to be certified as FSC Recycled, since FSC considers the use of this material as a primary use of the palm trunks and, to be post-consumer reclaimed, it should be necessarily reclaimed from consumers.

Companies that use post-consumer reclaimed material inputs may identify small amount of pre-consumer contamination in the material bundle on receipt. Does this material count as a mixture of pre- and post-consumer reclaimed material and therefore require the supplier to be included in a supplier audit program as per clause 3.5 of FSC-STD-40-007 V2-0?

Where sporadically the buyer of post-consumer material identifies a small amount of unintentional pre-consumer contamination included in the shipment, this is not considered a mix of pre- and post-consumer reclaimed material as described in clause 3.5 of FSC-STD-40-007 V2-0. In this case, the company shall quantify the amount of pre-consumer material contamination and deduct this amount from the post-consumer volume.
